The World at Play: Blinky Wins GeoGuessr World Cup 2024, Uniting Fans From All Over the Globe

Stockholm, Sweden – September 14, 2024 – The GeoGuessr World Cup 2024 has concluded with a dramatic and exhilarating finale that captivated millions of viewers worldwide. Held in the iconic Blue Hall of Stockholm City Hall, the event showcased the remarkable geographical prowess of its participants and the extraordinary global community that GeoGuessr has fostered.

In a tournament that drew intense international attention, Mathieu "Blinky" Huet, representing France, emerged as the champion, clinching the title with a breathtaking display of skill and strategic thinking.

"I am so happy," Blinky said following the thrilling finale against Robert "MK" Falconio from the USA, which went the full distance only to be concluded in the last match. "I didn't play my best but I managed to win it in the end."

The World Cup was more than just a competition; it was a testament to GeoGuessr's ability to connect people across continents. As millions tuned in to witness the spectacle of 24 of the world's best players duking it out over three days, the event underscored how the game
